Paper (101) Childhood and the Development of Children

Maximum Marks: 100
Theory: 70
(External: 50 Internal: 20)
Practicum: 30

Design of the Course

- Five theory units and three field-based practicum units.
- Practicum to go in tandem with the theory so that field-based data forms the basis of reflection on the theory. Readings for each task in the practicum are also suggested to facilitate theory-praxis linkages. The practicum tasks are suggestive and not prescriptive. It is hoped that the teacher educators would frame tasks according to the units of study.

Rationale and Aim

The two courses on Child Studies are visualized as the first systematic introduction of the ETE student-teacher to the study of childhood and children. These courses are necessarily the foundation upon which subsequent courses and practicum related to school internship would be based.

The purpose of these courses is to equip the student-teacher with the background knowledge that she needs to develop an understanding of the elementary school child and his/her socio-cultural contexts. This background includes a critical engagement with theories, as well as socio-cultural issues in the world of children and childhood. Building upon the above, the aim is to build sensitivity towards and conceptual clarity and perspective children's developmental needs and capabilities, within their socio-cultural context.

Specific readings as suggested in discussion, and essential readings should be used for a deeper and closer understanding of each unit

Rationale and Aim

As future teachers and educators, students (i.e. student teachers) need to have a solid foundation in the core principles and core concepts of education. This paper introduces the philosophical, the sociological, and the historical perspectives on education with a view to initiate inquiries and discussions on significant facets, themes and questions regarding education in India. The present century demands the need to understand the interface between education and society to deal with the issues of prevalent societal inequality and conflict, and address the demands for equality, justice, freedom, dignity and diversity. The philosophical, sociological and historical understanding of education's aims, processes and practices fulfils this need by critically elucidating the linkage that exists between education, knowledge and power.

Specific Objectives

to understand and explore the meaning, aims, purposes of education to develop understanding of philosophical, sociological and historical dimensions of education to identify and question one's own long-established presumptions on knowledge, learner, teacher, and education, and develop a more informed, meaningful understanding of them

- to expose students to divergent educational thoughts, perspectives and practices, which will help them in creating secure, egalitarian and pedagogically sound learning situations

Units of Study

Unit 1: Philosophical Understanding of Education

Exploring, and inquiring into the nature and need of education in human societies

Relationship between schooling and education, and exploring various educative processes in human societies

Schooling and Education as visualized by different western and Indian thinkers: Rousseau, Dewey, Gandhi, Tagore, philosophy of sikh gurus

Understanding the basic assumptions about human nature, society and aims of education

Unit 2: Education, Politics and Society

Prominent characteristics of education in India during colonial rule

India's Contemporary Education: continuities with and shifts from colonial legacy

Unit 3: Learning, Learner and Teaching

Concept and nature of learning, different ways of learning

Learning, knowledge and skills:

Meaning of teaching and its relationship with learning and learner

Mode of Transaction

Critical thought and questioning should be the basis for the transaction as well as should be further honed

Teachers must engage in dialogue and discussion with students minimizing the traditional lecture mode

Teachers should incorporate seminars, discussions, movie appraisals, group-work, field works, projects and the close reading of articles, policies, documents

The connections between all the four units must be sought

The units are to be studied by keeping the socio-historical-political context in mind

Internal: 15
Internal Practical: 20

Design of the Course:

Each unit of study has a field-based assignment/practicum task

Specific readings need to be used to introduce themes

Rationale and Aim

The purpose of this course is to engage student-teachers with key issues of organizing schools and learning environments and of visualizing and selecting appropriate pedagogic approaches. The course should enable them to link their understanding of children, of their social contexts and of curricular knowledge, to practical steps in organizing, motivating and assessing learning. While engagement with subject matter is the chief aim of pedagogic courses specific to disciplines, this course focuses on generic aspects of pedagogy that cut across various school subjects. It intends to widen their awareness of pedagogic possibilities, and to enrich their 'pedagogic imagination', so that student-teachers can think beyond standard approaches, and try to fit their pedagogic approaches with their aims of teaching and learning, while creating non-threatening learning environments. Also students will Understand the meaning and scope of ICT and its applications in teaching learning. They will Understand the computer components and software and hardware approach in education. They will learn to use the e-learning in the process of learning.

(107)Pedagogy of Mathematics

Maximum Marks: 100

External: 70

Internal: 30

Design of the Course

- Each unit of study focuses on the specific aspect of mathematics education relevant at that stage
- Several Hands-on activities are part of each unit of study

Rationale and Aim

When children come to school, they are already familiar with mathematics and are using it in their own ways. In school they come across a systematic treatment of mathematics which at times is in conflict with their internalized processes. It is important for teachers to understand these conflicts and differences for effective learning.

In the Position Paper produced by the National Focus Group on Teaching of Mathematics (NCERT, 2006) it was said, “Mathematics education relies very heavily on the preparation that the teacher has, in her own understanding of mathematics, and in her bag of pedagogic techniques”. Every teacher needs to develop her understanding of mathematics afresh from the point of view that takes in account the processes in which learning takes place in children’s mind. Teachers need to be aware of the ways in which students think so that they can design and adapt their teaching approaches to deal with the alternative conceptions of mathematical knowledge of young learners.

The aim of the course is to sensitize prospective teachers that, not only do they need to reflect on their own knowledge of mathematical content taught at the primary level but they also need to connect to children and their experiences. Engagement with this course should enable prospective teachers to learn and reflect on what research has to say about children and their mathematics education and use it to promote learning.

Specific Objectives

- To enable student-teachers to develop deeper insights into the content areas of mathematics at the primary level
- To make student-teachers aware of factors that impact on the process of acquisition of mathematical knowledge
- To sensitize student-teachers about the ways in which children respond to mathematical knowledge
- To help student-teachers develop skills, have deeper insights, acquire appropriate attitudes, learn effective strategies that promote effective children’s learning

Thread Running through the Course

(108) Proficiency in English

Maximum Marks: 50

External: 35

Internal: 15

Design of the Course

- Each unit of the course will be linked to student-teachers reflecting on their own proficiency in English – what strategies helped them improve their own proficiency.
- Specific readings, resources and tasks to help student-teachers improve their own proficiency.

Rationale and Aim

The purpose of this course is to enable the student-teachers to improve their proficiency in English. A teacher's confidence in the classroom is often undermined by a poor command of the English language. Research has shown that improving teacher efficacy, or her own belief in her effectiveness, has a tremendous impact on the classroom. A teacher who perceives herself as proficient in English is more likely to use communicative strategies for teaching English. She is less likely to resort to using simple translation or guide-books for teaching English.

This course focuses on the receptive (listening and reading) and productive (speaking and writing) skills of English and combines within each of these, both an approach on proficiency in usage and proficiency in classroom teaching.

Specific Objectives

- *To strengthen the student-teacher s own English language proficiency.
- To brush up their knowledge of grammatical, lexical and discourse systems in English.
- To enable students to link this with pedagogy.
- To re-sequence units of study for those who may have no knowledge of English.

Running Thread of the Course

This course will attempt to use a variety of resources, tasks and activities to enable the student-teacher to develop/increase her proficiency in English. The focus will not be on learning and memorising aspects of grammar and pure linguistics. Instead, the aim will be to enjoy learning English and to constantly reflect on this learning to link it with pedagogical strategies.

(109) Children's Physical and Emotional Health and Yoga Education -I

Area of Study: Theory and Practicum

Design of the Course

This course is designed to be one component of a practicum course to be covered in both years of study. It offers the scope to engage critically with systems and practices related to health of children and school health. Two sets of practicum are provided for the first and the second year of study. The rationale, aim objectives of this practicum presented below refers to both practicum courses.

Rationale and Aim

The relationship between education and health forms the core rationale behind this course. While the role of education on health has been widely acknowledged, the impact of health on education is often not recognized adequately. This course unfolds the reciprocal relationship between health and education. Health is a necessary condition for learning apart from being a basic right of every child. Enrolment, retention, concentration and learning outcomes in the classroom have a strong linkage with a child's physical and emotional health.

A holistic understanding of health implies a perspective on health that is not merely freedom from germs and disease but an understanding of the social, economic, mental/emotional and physical aspects of health. It becomes essential for the teacher to locate the social determinants of health and to root any health communication/education in the socio-economic and cultural context of the child. This forms an essential foundational and theoretical component of the course. This approach will lead away from the „hygiene-education focus of health education which stresses behavioural changes and puts the responsibility of health on the child. Instead, the course aims to equip the teacher with a perspective that helps both the teacher and the children understand health issues as determined by socio-economic contexts. This will enable them to move beyond a solely behavioural change model to an approach that seeks to address larger health determinants. This is not to deny the importance of healthy habits but it is important to recognize that to tell a child to „bathe every day or „eat nutritious foods is not sufficient. The teacher will have to locate health messages and ideas in the lived reality of the children they teach so as to meaningfully engage with the issue.

It is important to see the role of the teacher as one that includes within it the perspective of a health worker. This does not in any way mean an additional workload. However we see this as inherent in her work itself. Here there is a clear overlap of ideas with the course on Child Studies. Understanding a child necessarily includes understanding the health of the child within a social context. A course on health lends a natural opportunity for teachers to understand children in their life context and increases sensitivity to the children and their socio- economic background. It is possible to address issues of teacher attitudes, engagement and willingness to accept diversity in their classroom. This is likely to help teachers move towards a broad vision of inclusive education through an understanding of health and well-being in the broadest sense. Instead of speaking of teacher attitudes alone, the course gives student-teachers a chance to understand unequal and multiple kinds of childhood that children experience.

Specific Objectives

1. To build a holistic understanding of the concept of health and well-being and understand children's health needs using a social determinants framework.
2. To understand the reciprocal relationship between health and education and understand the role of the teacher and possible ways of engaging with health concerns.
3. To examine specific programmes related to children's health operating in schools.
4. To build knowledge and skills on teaching health and physical education and integration of their themes with other curricula areas of teacher education and school subjects.
5. To link theoretical and conceptual learning with actual school/classroom realities through practical work.

Running Thread of the Course

The most important thread running through the course is the need for the student teacher to understand that health and education are reciprocally linked and she must in various ways engage with the health needs of children. The thread of gaining a holistic understanding of health and seeing it as located in a social reality runs across the course and connects issues like physical health, emotional health and „health of the school. A life of health and well-being in a holistic sense is a right of every child. A teacher sensitive to the social context of children can play the crucial role in achieving this right. Theory and practical units are closely knitted together and the idea is a constant process of reflection.

- Preparation of play grounds in DIET
- Morning Assembly, drills and exercises
- Athletics events

* This practical aspect is suggested to be integrated with the framework developed for the School Internship Programme under Objective 1 of Year 1.

Practical Work is based on Units 1, 2 and 3 before school internship and after school internship through Projects. The practical work is visualized through integration with School Internship Programme (SIP). This involves discussion, guidance and inputs to undertake these projects before the SIP and is followed by reflective sessions where students share their projects after SIP. These post SIP sessions are to be organized in a workshop mode with a stress on collective reflection and discussion. Given below are some themes/ideas for projects and these topics are allocated across the students. As mentioned above before going for the SIP, sessions are held discussing the idea and rationale behind each theme and learning/developing appropriate research methods and tools. Each student prepares a project plan inclusive of tools before going for the SIP.

Suggested Project Topics/Themes

1. The exercise undertaken in the School Internship Programme (SIP), of making a profile of a child and understanding his/her social context during the internship needs to also connect to the health of the child and understanding all possible determinants. The student teacher is to observe and find out about the child's health conditions. The Child's health profile is to explore the possible health determinants operating in the Child's life. Issues of settlement/housing, livelihood of families, poverty and deprivation, food habits, water access and safety etc are explored through observations, informal group discussions and visits to the community. The teacher educator prior to the SIP will guide the student teachers on methods and ethical issues, sensitivity during questioning.
2. Morbidity Mapping Exercise to be conducted. In this the student teacher tracks children's attendance and tries to find out reasons for children's absenteeism. She records illnesses she observes or as reported by children/peers and develops a health report card. The student teacher develops a report card for the „health of the school. She surveys parameters like water, toilets, sanitation, building, playground etc during the SIP. The idea is to encourage the student teachers to explore multiple dimensions of each parameter that impacts on children's health in school. For eg: It is not sufficient to just ask if there is toilet. It is important to explore, is it functional? Is it clean? Is there water available for the toilets etc.
4. Student teachers record observations using tools developed as well as creative methodologies to capture children's perceptions regarding Mid Day Meal to reflect on the health programmes operating in school. The idea is to observe and comment on various aspects of the MDM programme such as quantity, quality, distribution system, culture of the programme and also give legitimacy to children's perceptions on the MDM. For e.g.; What they like, don't like of the MDM, what they eat before school, are they able to study if they are feeling hungry etc. These are explored not through interviews but through creative worksheets which the children fill out. Such methodologies are part of the readings mentioned for Unit III and should be made with the guidance of the teacher educator before SIP.

Practical Work can be divided across groups of students and must be followed by each group sharing with the larger class of ETE teachers. This sharing should be facilitated by the faculty to reflect on health observations, methods used, findings and a discussion on the culture of programmes, possible action a teacher can take etc. The idea of the project is not to just collect a lot of information on health aspects but to begin a process of exploration and inculcate sensitivity towards health and its linkage with learning processes.

(201)Cognition, Learning and the Socio-Cultural Context

Maximum Marks: 50

External: 30

Internal: 10

Practical:10

Design of the Course

- Several field-based units throughout the course.
- Practicum to go in tandem with the theory course so that field-based data forms the basis of reflection on the theory. Readings for each task in the practicum are also suggested to facilitate theory-praxis linkages.
- Specific readings suggested for use in discussion groups enabling reflective reading of each text.

Rationale and Aim

The course is aimed towards helping student-teachers understand various theories about how children learn and how learning and cognition are understood by various theorists. This would lead student-teachers to construct an understanding of learning for their own selves which they would be able to use in the classroom. This, it is hoped would help the teacher become more of a supporter and facilitator rather than an instructor.

Another pertinent aim is to enable the students develop an understanding of the research methods employed to understand children in their multiple contexts. It is envisaged that the students would use some of these methods not only to hone their skills in the same but also in learning about reflection and analysis on the data gathered through these means. This implies strengthening linkages between theory and practice through various field-based assignments.

Specific Objectives

- To understand the process of thinking and learning in children through different theories/ perspectives and reflect on their relevance in the teaching-learning process.
- To understand how different perspectives/theories contribute to an overall understanding of development and the child as a socio-cultural universal.
- To bring the implications of theory into the centre of the study of children; to provide for opportunities such that the student teacher is able to visualize the linkages with theory in the real life interactions with children.
- To enable the student teacher to visualize the linkages with theory in the real life interactions with children.
- To enable the student teacher to understand moral development of a child in socio-cultural context.

Running Thread of the Course

The student-teacher develops a critical understanding of different approaches to childrens development and learning within a socio-historical perspective: principles of behaviourism, cognitive development, information processing, constructivist, socio-constructivist and cross-cultural positions. The essence of child-centered pedagogy is to be in tandem with the physical, socio-cultural, emotional and cognitive worlds of children within the Indian context.

An attempt has been made to include the implications for each aspect of development with the unit itself. For instance, there has been a conscious effort to include activities like play, art, story telling etc. as implications along with the units on physical motor development, cognition and language development respectively.

Practicum: Peep into the Child' world: What and How II

Task 1: The student-teachers ask four children in the age group 4-7 years to draw on different themes they choose. The children are then encouraged to talk about their drawing. The students try and understand what the drawing communicates by talking to the child and looking for aspects of symbolic thought as expressed in the drawing. Also, the student-teacher arrives at the patterns that emerge across the various drawings that children have made. Student-teachers could also organize other such simple activities for children. They conduct these activities with children and maintain records of children's responses.

Task 2: The student-teacher does observation of children at play and maintain records - 2 hours across 4 observations; observations can be carried out in playgrounds in the neighbourhood or schools. The students could identify different games that children play; Individual and group behaviour in play; friendships and social relationships. The analysis could include the following aspects: motor skills, language used during play, group structure and interactions, arriving at rules and following them, gender behaviour, patterns of negotiation and resolving conflict, folk songs and games, popular culture. This assignment is to be followed by post-assignment discussions during contact hours to arrive at linkages between play and social, emotional, cognitive, language and motor development of children.

Task 3: Student-teachers identify a movie or a cartoon that is popular among school age children. They construct an interview schedule (to interview children) and observation checklist to look at the finer nuances of the movie or cartoon (what attracts children to the same) and critically analyze the varying aspects. Other methods of looking at TV viewing habits, child's ability to distinguish fantasy from reality could also be explored by the student-teachers.

Or

Task 4: Student-teachers identify a video game that is popular among school age children. They construct an interview schedule and observation checklist to "Understand aggression in a video game that is popular among children and also critically look at aspects of the game itself."

Maximum Marks: 50

External: 35

Internal: 15

Design of the Course

- At least one unit of study to be field-based
- Specific readings suggested for use in discussion groups enabling a close reading of each text

Rationale and Aim

The purpose of education is to enable happy, meaningful learning environments for all children. Between the „idea of education and the implementation of an educational programme is a long journey that witnesses a range of dynamics amongst several important players. These include teachers, parents, school heads, district and block level education functionaries, academics, educators, the community, government planners and policy makers, and children.

How are schools organized? What roles do government functionaries perform to help schools provide quality education? What kind of leadership enables effective school education? How are educational standards defined? What are the processes of change facilitation in education? This course brings together pieces of the puzzle that constitute effective school education. Through workshops, discussions, readings, field-based project work and project presentations, students will develop an understanding of the range of factors that enable school organization and management.

Specific Objectives

The overall objective of this course is to enable students to develop a holistic understanding of the range of issues and dynamics that constitute school education. The specific objectives are:

(203) Social Science Education

Maximum Marks: 100

External: 70

Internal: 30

Design of the Course

Unit 3 includes a field-based assignment of observing the teaching of social sciences; analysis and reflection on the observations in consultation with peers and faculty.

Unit 4 also has a field-based assignment with the aim to orient the prospective teacher to the process of using concepts and skills in generating content from local contexts and the direct use of source materials.

The educator can choose at least 4 to 5 readings from the list of essential readings for discussion in groups enabling a close reading of texts and debates on perspectives. The readings are optional and intended for teacher educators.

In-depth work on selected chapters /units of recommended textbooks is to be led by the teacher educators to enable a strengthening of content-knowledge as well as using a model for working with subject content to the prospective teachers. As far as possible, a different set of topics from recommended textbooks and other resource books is to be used for school internship work and assessment related exercises, so that the prospective teacher has an extensive opportunity to revisit and work on subject knowledge.

Rationale and Aim

The contents of social science as a school subject are based on a certain understanding about their nature and purposes. Instead of treating these as natural and given, this course introduces student-teachers to different perspectives about these subjects. It would also examine the ways in which different visions and understanding of the subjects get reflected in different curriculum, syllabi and textbooks. It asks and suggests how social sciences can develop capacities to critically understand society and social reality around us with reference to time, space and power, structures, institutions, processes and relationships.

Engaging with the nature of diverse disciplinary would form the basis to understand that its purposes are historical and social in character. Analysis of textbooks and curriculum may help students understand how various perspectives about society, children and social science shape these documents and pedagogic devices and how they may be alternatively conceived and transacted in classroom. Reading how children conceptualize and understand the subject matter of different social science components and the ways in which different textbooks and teaching methods allow or obstruct development of abilities for individual/collective reflection would provide a meaningful avenue for student teachers to develop their own understanding of social sciences and appropriate pedagogies.

Specific Objectives

This course would help the learner to

- develop knowledge and skills to critically understand and analyse the society we live in and the individual-society interface, by drawing upon the disciplines of sociology, history, geography, political science, economics and psychology.
- build skills to gather, interpret and analyse data
- critically analyse social science school curriculum, syllabus and textbooks
- know and use different pedagogies to transact the curriculum in a manner that enhances curiosity of children to enquire about social phenomenon and develops their capacities to reflect on the existing society, its institutions and practices in a critical, independent and thoughtful manner
- develop capacities to uphold human and constitutional values of freedom, equality, justice and respect for difference and diversity and challenge the social forces that threaten these values

Units of Study

Unit 1: Nature of Social Sciences

Internal: 20

Practicum :20

Design of the Course

Each unit of study to have a field-based assignment.

Specific readings are to be used for discussion in groups enabling a close reading of texts.

Rationale and Aim

The aim of this course is to encourage students to engage with the nature of science and relate it with inquiry in this area. This will involve challenging students' misconceptions related to concepts in science and help them advance towards a better understanding. They will need a space to freely express their ideas about various aspects of the nature of science and reflect on classroom practices based on this understanding. The students should be able to critically reflect on issues of gender and inclusive space in science education.

This course builds on the Pedagogy of EVS paper and helps student-teachers to reflect on the nature of the discipline of science and its implications for classroom transaction.

Specific objectives

(208) Diversity, Gender and Inclusive Education

Maximum Marks: 50

Internal: 15

Design of the Course

- This course must engage with other courses of the programme, and should not be taught in a solitary fashion
- Each unit of study must have some kind of field-based engagement
- Specific readings as suggested in discussion, and essential readings should be used for a deeper and closer understanding of each unit

Rationale and Aim

This course addresses the complex relationship that exists between diversity, inequity, and education. It aims to sensitize students to the diversity of life experiences and learning needs of different kinds of children. Children with special needs, those from marginalized communities as well as girls have been traditionally excluded from education. Inclusive education, as understood today, must give a place to all children, while specifically addressing the above. This becomes even more significant in the light of the Right to Education Act 2009. While critically looking at our education through this lens, this course also tries to explore certain possibilities by addressing the nature of inclusive education as well as the sensibilities and skills that it demands from the teacher.

Specific Objectives

- To understand the present approach on education of children with special needs
- Instead of blaming an individual for his/her failure, the need is to understand how barriers to learning arise from various discriminatory practices, curriculum, teaching approaches, school organization, and various other social and cultural factors
- To focus on the structures (implicit and explicit) in our schools that serves as a hindrance to the inclusion of all students
- To explore and understand the possibility of change through inclusive education
- To develop a comprehensive and critical understanding on disability, marginalization and inclusive education

Running Thread of the Course

The historical and contemporary forces and processes that have resulted in cornering children with no voice and choice can be traced in all the units of study. The courses in Child Studies and Educational Studies will be helpful in developing a sound understanding of this course. This course will also gain important insights from the field experience that will come from the practicum courses, and the school internship programme. With this, the conceptual understanding built by this course would be fruitful in the field during internship, while dealing with children with diverse needs. Instead of seeing them as a problem and challenge, the student-teacher would be able to incorporate them in his/her teaching-learning processes.

Units of Study

Unit 1: Inclusive Education

- Inclusive Education: Meaning, characteristics, Aims and objectives, assumptions of Inclusive

Education; Forms of inclusion

- Exclusion in Indian education: marginalized sections of society, gender, children with special needs
- Addressing Inequality and Diversity in Indian Classroom: pedagogical (Collaborative, Activity based Learning, Peer Tutoring ; curriculum concerns
- Understanding and exploring the nature of assessment for Inclusive Education: Objectives, principles, advantages, strategies for assessment of Inclusive Education

Unit 2: Children with Special Needs

- Historical and contemporary perspectives to disability and inclusion
- Learning Disabilities: Dyslexia, Dyscalculia, Dysgraphia and Attention Deficit Hyperactive Disorder (ADHD)
- Education for children with special needs: Visually Handicaps, Mentally handicaps, Hearing Impairment, Speech Impairment, Orthopedically Handicaps

Unit 3: Gender, School and Society

- Social construction of masculinity and femininity, Patriarchies in interaction with other social structures and identities
- Gender Equality : Meaning , Need and importance of Education for Gender Equality and Working towards gender equality in the classroom
- Reproducing gender in school: Curriculum, text-books and student-teacher interactions

Mode of Transaction

- The Practicum and the Theory courses of the programme to develop a solid platform for this paper.
- In consonance with other courses, this course helps in understanding how structures in school create barriers for inclusionary practices
- The practicum courses of the programme, with the present course should help students in exploring spaces for inclusion in schools
- Dialogue and discussions has to be the key for the transaction of this course

Before going for the School Internship Programme student teachers must develop materials/activities/strategies based on select health themes and try to do this by integrating with another subject. A Health Education lesson plan is prepared by the student teacher and the chosen theme/concept is transacted during the SIP. The ideas and materials developed related to the health theme, research done to make sure information and content is correct and the actual transaction in class all form a part of the reflective report to be prepared. This report forms a part of Internal Assessment.

- Focus on Yoga- learning its principles and basic asanas.
- Athletics
- Organizing of tournaments, marking of courts etc.

To be learnt/conducted at the DIET, Basic Exercises and movements, Drill and Team Games (Kho-Kho, Kabaddi, Throw ball, Volley Ball, Football etc.) The student teacher must learn techniques and procedures to conduct these. As a practical activity during the student internship² it is suggested that student teachers observe the physical education (play, exercise) related activities taking place in the school. Is there a space to play? What equipment is available? What is being played by whom (girls/boys)? And what is the culture of play? Is the teacher actively engaged? Are there children being left out? What about children with special needs? Also student teachers are encouraged to document the unrecognized and indigenous games/play that students engage in. It is suggested that student teachers share their findings in the form of a short report.

After the SIP, the course facilitator can also guide the class through a discussion of findings to re-emphasize the actual objectives of physical education for education and health and to also recognize the constraints operating in school in terms of lack of space, no sports equipment, ways of innovating etc.

Creative Drama, Fine Arts and Education

Maximum Marks: Year I: 50

Year II: 50

To be assessed internally

Design of the Practicum

This practicum includes three critical areas of focus: creative drama, fine arts and work and education. All three components are to be covered through the two years of the DEd programme. Weightage for each is given separately. The rationale, aim and objectives of each focus area are also given separately to facilitate the detailed design and transaction of this practicum.

Rationale and Aim of the Practicum

The well being and fulfillment of an individual's potentials is the common thread of the components of fine art and creative drama as it connects with work experience and health education. Work experience is a space where working transcends vocational skills and aims to create a whole experience of being fully present and working with all of one's faculties and being in relationship with others and nature. Health education goes beyond general advice on hygiene and nutrition, placing health within the social and community realm; helps appreciate the interconnectedness of an individual's physical, emotional health with that of social, environmental health of the human and natural community. Art education aims to help connect these two with the inner aspects of one's being and to appreciate and create beauty and harmony within and outside. It operates from a paradigm that the aesthetic needs are fundamental to all human beings and by creating opportunities to work on these, hone them, cultivate them, we can hope to create harmonious individuals and a harmonious world. It is not about beautification- applying something from outside, but an ability to appreciate the inherent rhythm, beauty and harmony in forms, relations, and character.

Creative Drama: Rationale and Aim

Creative Drama: There are two broad aims of creative drama for education. One is for the student-teachers to use drama processes to examine their present and to generate new knowledge, understanding and perceptions of the world and themselves in it. The second aim is to train, enhance some theatre skills that will later help them be creative and enlightened teachers. A process that draws our physical, emotional, intellectual and other faculties together in a moment (eg. life itself) makes for worthwhile, far reaching, holistic learning. Drama is one such experience and should therefore have a central place in school education

It is important to stress that drama is not about the self alone or self expression alone. The process of drama is a social experience. It is about the richness of understanding that can be generated by a group about society, self and the interconnections. The understanding generated within a group is internalised and is carried forward by the individual in diverse personal and social contexts. The focus of drama is on the student-teacher, building her/his creative capacities through theatre.

Specific Objectives

1. To draw out and work with different faculties simultaneously i.e. physical, intuitive, emotional, sensual and mental through practical exercises.
2. Build imagination and concentration of the body and mind. Structured exercises for coordinating, enhancing and translating imagination into physical expression.
3. Learn to challenge and shift one's own attitude and standpoint as one learns to understand multiple perspectives to empathise.
4. Identify and develop one's own creative potential.
5. Bring the arts into the centre of exploration, e.g. in visual arts: semiotics of the image/film/play/music; how is an image to be made meaningful; how can an image act as a starting point for an exploration?
6. Recognise the role of „drama as education“ in the elementary school
7. Learn to identify areas that are best suited for drama exploration
8. Examine through chosen themes, how learning can take place in the classroom through group drama exploration by a whole class of elementary school students
9. Explore the role of the teacher as creative guide in learning that is drama driven

Running Thread of the Course

Theatre techniques are used to help stretch, enhance and challenge the student-teacher in terms of her/his body, imagination and perceptions. By participating in group drama explorations structured and guided by the teacher, the student-teachers would enhance their critical awareness of the world and themselves in it. The focus is not the self alone but the social world that the self lives in.

Creative Drama: Focus Areas

1. In drama exploration, the overall context presented to students is to understand life and to learn from life. The mode is experiential. The exercises are structured by the teacher, but the experience and its outcome is generated by participants in the process. The experience and reflection on that, is the learning. However for this to happen it is mandatory that the exercises are planned and structured by the teacher and not offered as „open improvisations“.
2. Encourage recognition of differences among people: caste, class, gender, religion, age, community, occupation, lifestyle, etc. and how these influence actions, decisions, and relationships of people. Learn to place oneself in a wider arena of these cross cutting currents. The self to be placed in the context of the other. “How should I look at the other? What does that reveal about me?” Go beyond the immediate and look at other groups and settings, e.g. rural, the disadvantaged and other cultural communities.
3. Ways of seeing situations, social structures and communities. To sharpen observation and to learn to continuously ask probing questions while investigating situation. Develop the capacity to look at same situation from different perspectives. Learning to recognise contradictions within situations with the aim of grasping a better understanding of the situation rather than wanting to look for solutions.
4. Finding connections between the particular and the universal. How larger processes and contexts play out in the specific context of daily life situations and vice versa. For instance, the case of a marginalised dalit woman seeking medical help is

- connected with the larger worlds of state responsibility and public health policy, prevailing gender relations, the judiciary, etc.
5. Change as a principle of life. Identifying it within drama work; the repercussions of change, who does it affect, why and how?
 6. Learning to continuously reflect on and analyse classroom exploration and their connection with events and situations in world outside. Evaluating one's own and group's progress in class.

Mode of Transaction

Games to help loosen up, sharpen reflexes, have fun while building imagination in different ways. Build imagination within games and exercises. Add conditions to games to draw together and harness different physical, emotional, mental faculties. Use theatrical exercises to awaken sensory awareness and transformation.

Devise preparatory games and physical exercises to build imagination. Refine physical actions and integrate the physical with other faculties. Exercises in observation, communication, associative thinking; building situations with imaginary objects and people.

Planned and structured drama exploration exercises designed to first experience and then, deepen social awareness of students. Some examples would include the use of an image (photo, painting) as a stimulus for exploration; still photographs of students themselves leading to tracking a line of thought about some issue.

Participative learning using role play, hot seating, building stories/songs, making and analysing a „character's diary, personal belongings (objects) of characters.

Make short plays that can be performed by student-teachers with aim to study school student's responses during school contact programmes. Help build a set of skills so the class can organize role plays as well as larger school play that is built on students' creativity rather than following a given script.

Fine Arts: Rationale and Aim

The aim of the Fine Arts component of the practicum is to understand interconnections between art, crafts, drama, culture, aesthetics, health and livelihoods. The aim is also to appreciate and engage with a diverse range of art processes, products and performances – folk and classical through exposure and exchange. It is believed that giving opportunities to school teachers to engage with aesthetics through art forms is likely to cultivate and hone their aesthetic sense and their ability to recognise beauty and harmony as essential aspects of a life of quality.

Specific Objectives

1. Develop an understanding of art and craft, the need to appreciate it in different forms; the scope and purpose of art education and art as the basis of education.
2. Develop a perspective and appreciation of art, nature, human existence relationship.
3. Critique the current trends in art education and develop a possible scenario for art for change
4. Understand the range of traditional art forms and working with hands.
5. Develop an appreciation for diverse music forms and the role of music in human cultures.
6. Create and present pieces of art: using visual arts and crafts
7. Create and present pieces of performance art using music and movement
8. Evolve collective art projects incorporating different art media – into a public festival/ event.

Running Thread of the Course

The course is based on the premise that aesthetic needs are fundamental to all human beings and that through the medium of creative drama and fine arts opportunities can be created to develop harmonious individuals.

Fine Arts: Focus Areas

1. Art, Art appreciation and Art education: visit to places like crafts museums, bal bhavan, art galleries. Organise art, craft and music exercises with small groups followed by discussions and presentation. Any local exhibition or art event can be used as precursor for the session. The session should involve using some art for a while followed by a reflection on the experience and then connect it to their own school days and art.
2. Visual Art: Opportunities to experiment and create pieces of art using different medium. Focus on colours, textures, composition and thematic content. Using a range of medium: paper and water colors, paper and crayon, color pencils, acrylic, oil paint and canvass, student-teachers would learn about lines, forms, compositions, colors, space divisions etc. Specific tasks would include free drawing, developing narratives in visuals, composition of an imagined situation, telling a story through comic strips, creating a collage using images, bits cut out from old magazines, news paper etc.
3. Music: Orientation to different forms of music with either a film screening or lecture demonstration by an artist to show a wide range of musical forms and a brief history of one or two forms; connecting to music in nature and within our own selves; voice training: opening the voice, music and rhythm exercises: singing, creating music with different objects, practicing basic notes and tones; experimenting with one new forms: folk of any one region; collating music/songs from a community/within the family for special occasions or themes. (eg. lullabies from different language cultures, harvest songs, songs during the freedom struggle etc; create musical pieces with others; design and run sessions on music with children
4. Cinema and Electronic Media: Provide exposure to alternative cinema, develop appreciation for cinema as an art and understand the impact of the electronic media, its impact on our psyche and aesthetics; orientation with an expert on films providing a background followed by screening of known films; projects/discussion on television and our mindscape: storylines, the corruption of aesthetics, intervention in familial spaces, increasing legitimisation of violence; age appropriate viewing and selection of films
5. Literary Arts: linkage between language, literature and performing arts; appreciation of poetry as performance art, play reading and reading literature as an art, selection of poetic pieces and developing performances around it; exposure to readings in different language traditions: Hindi, English other regional languages and dialectics drawing upon local traditions.
6. Architecture and spatial Design: develop a deeper understanding of architectural heritage, appreciation of spatial designs and the aesthetics therein: colonial, Mughal, Sultanate period, Post Independence etc. Through heritage walks; political dynamics of space and its changing trends; cultural social connections with architecture and town/city planning; connection to natural resources and access to these viz a viz architecture and design; spaces for children in a city.
7. Designing a Project for School Children: Participants to identify a specific age group of children and a relevant theme and design an art based project for them which should span over a period of time example – a heritage walk to a nearby monument and a public event about it – including art exhibition, plays, songs and other similar expressions; principles of inclusion, diversity, child-centered approaches would be a given and the participants would be encouraged to use all that they have learnt in an interactive manner; feedback from students, teachers and community would be used for evaluation of this aspect.

Towards Self-understanding and Evolving an Educational Vision

Maximum Marks: 50

External: 25

Internal: 25

Design of the Course

This is not intended as a standard ‘course’ with specific units of study. Instead it may be thought of as two strands that run parallel through the two year duration of the D Ed programme.

Strand A

An on-going strand during the course, to be coordinated and shared by the faculty, would include

1. Journal writing by student-teachers to reflect on significant experiences and periodically process their observations and thoughts on life situations, with comments being noted by a designated faculty mentor
2. Carefully framed writing tasks towards the beginning and end of each year, which enable student-teachers to express and reflect, in stages, on their prior life journeys, current assimilation of experiences and questions, as well as evolving perspective on education.

Strand B

The other strand of the ‘course’ would be designed as a series of workshops and seminars with carefully chosen themes. It is recommended that there be around 4-6 one-day or two-day workshops in each academic year, and 2-4 half-day or one-day seminars. It is recommended that the workshops are conducted by outside resource persons (from organizations working in related areas of personal development). The workshops should be experiential, and provide occasions for active participation and reflection. One regular faculty member from the field of psychology will need to be associated with the external resource person to take up the overall responsibility of the course. In addition, the faculty should organize seminars that involve student-teachers in taking responsibility for making presentations and holding discussions that bring out multiple perspectives on key issues of life and education.

Rationale and Aim

“Teachers teach what they know, they educate what they are.” This maxim suggests that more than any other profession, education and teaching require the whole being of the teacher to be engaged with the life and learning of their students.

This course aims at the inner development of the student-teachers as individuals who are engaged in a process of self-understanding and begin to take responsibility for their own learning as also the learning of their students. Such self-understanding would involve critical reflection on factors that have shaped one's identity and personality, an awareness of one's thought-patterns, motivations and behavior, and openness to learn and renew oneself. This would then reflect in a capacity for social-relational sensitivity, a search for harmony within and without, and a deeper level of communication with students, colleagues and others.

This course also intends to initiate student-teachers into a process of original thinking about their wider educational concerns and the conscious development of an evolving perspective on education. In beginning to develop their own educational vision they would gain the impetus to translate their knowledge of children, their subject areas, and the contemporary Indian reality, into workable curricula and teaching-learning practices within their classrooms and schools that are coherent with their evolving values. It is through such an agency of teachers that any kind transformation in themselves, their students and society at large, may begin.

Strand A

1. Journal Writing Objectives

To enable student-teachers to become more conscious of their responses to experiences, observations of life situations, as also of ideas and issues that arise in their minds, and to thus develop their capacity for reflection

To allow for an individual contact and interaction between faculty and student

Mode of Transaction

Each student-teacher should be asked to maintain a regular Journal, in which he/she may write: a) short reflective accounts of significant experiences b) observations of life situations that evoke questions and responses c) questions on education, learning or teaching that he/she is grappling with.

The Journal should be periodically shared (once a fortnight is recommended) with a faculty mentor, who will read through it and offer brief comments, suggestions, or further questions for the student-teacher to reflect on.

2. Writing Tasks

Objectives

To enable student-teachers to recall and reflect on their own educational journeys and become conscious of factors that have shaped their aspirations and expectations

To synthesize their experiences and learning over a period of time

Suggested Tasks

Writing an 'Educational autobiography' (at the beginning of the D Ed course)

Writing a reflective statement of aspirations and expectations, based on one's learning so far in the course (after six months in the course)

Strand B

Investigating the texture of one key event/experience (working with partners) – ‘what did it look like?’; ‘what did it feel like?’; ‘What did it mean?’ ‘What does it feel like today?’

Sharing and assimilating a range of experiences

Workshop 2: Learning to Observe (and to Listen)

Objectives

Sensitizing student-teachers to the ‘difficulty’ of openness in observation and listening

Enabling them to become aware of the nature of their judgments and ‘quick’ interpretation and opinion (that ‘filters’ or ‘distorts’ observation and listening)

Suggested workshop themes

Observation of nature; observation of persons; observation of (and listening to) situations

(Modes of Transaction would include ‘role-plays’ and ‘enactments’ followed by discussions)

Workshop 4: Celebration of an iconic cultural figure

(eg Kabir/Tagore/Narayan Guru/Meerabai/Akka Mahadevi/ Jnaneswar/ Basava/ Thyagaraj/

To participate in celebrating cultural roots and absorbing the ideas and expressions that emerge from these

Suggested workshop themes

Participation in learning and celebrating (in appropriate media)

Discussion of cultural world-view and contemporary relevance of the icon

Writing based on the above

Workshop 5: Deconstructing the messages of advertising (in the audio-visual media)

Objectives

To appreciate the impact of television advertising on children and adults

To analyse the ‘constructed’ imagery and overt as well as subliminal messages communicated through advertisements

To enable a critical distance from the power of advertising (especially of the audio-visual kind)

Suggested workshop themes

8. The expanding role of advertising in contemporary life

9. Sharing favourite advertisements and their impact on us

10. Looking from the other side: how psychology, research, technology and imagination combine to create a ‘targeted commercial’

11. Viewing and analyzing a series of advertisements

12. Constructing an effective advertisement (group task)

13. How to be a critical and media-literate viewer of advertisements

Workshop 6: Visualizing a ‘School from Scratch’ – alternatives in education

Objectives

To think through, in discussion with others, the conception of a ‘school from scratch’ – its intentions, essential ingredients and essential processes (ie. aims, curriculum, pedagogy)

To discuss the justifications for each conception, and identify the educational and practical dilemmas arising in each case

Suggested workshop themes

Visualizing individual conceptions of a ‘school from scratch’

Working in groups to develop a collective conception of a ‘school from scratch’

Presenting to the larger group each conception of ‘school from scratch’ along with the process of arriving at this and the justifications for its various elements; for each case documenting the discussion, questions raised, and issues arising Observing a few films of schools that represent alternatives in education

Seminar 1: Glimpses of different childhoods in India

Format: Student-teachers present, via different media – narrative, photographs, audio-visual presentation, illustrated poster etc - stories of Indian children growing up in vastly differing circumstances; sharing to be followed by discussion

Preparation: Resource books and films to be gathered; each student-teacher picks a particular type of childhood and researches the life situation, the opportunities and constraints of an imaginary or real child from this circumstance; photographs, interviews etc. may be used.

Seminar 2: Selection of short readings and dialogue

Format: A selection of short but provocative readings on issues of life and education, to be read together, followed by exploratory dialogue in small groups

Preparation: Making a careful selection of readings that lend themselves to a non-polemic discussion and exploration

Seminar 3: The Role of science and religion in Society

Format: Debate and Discussion

Preparation: Topic to be formulated to allow for different perspectives; some texts to be identified as resources; student-teachers prepare in groups

Seminar 4: Education and environmental crises

Format: Film and presentation or reading of a text; small group discussions around selected themes drawn from the film; sharing of implications for education

Preparation: Selection of a contemporary documentary or audio-visual presentation

School Internship

Maximum Marks: 450

Year I: 250; Year II: 200

To be internally assessed

Rationale and Aim

The purpose of the internship programme is to provide the student (intern) with the opportunity of undergoing a meaningful experience as a practitioner. As conceived, the programme should be structured so that it is a partnership between the school and the DIET. The intern must function as a regular teacher and therefore be immersed in all aspects of the school but with the provision that the intern is enabled to be creative in her role as a practitioner. This can be accomplished by providing her the necessary physical space as well as pedagogical freedom to innovate. For this it is necessary to negotiate with the school focusing on the benefit that will accrue to the school by the proposed partnership model.

The programme will be largely field-based so that the intern will get to experience the real problems that a practitioner has to deal with. To achieve the aim of the programme the intern will need to integrate her knowledge base, her understanding of children and classroom processes, theoretical pedagogical considerations, the strategies and skills she has developed in order for her to become a reflective practitioner.

The internship is a 2-year programme but with different expectations of what the intern is supposed to achieve in each year. First year will be dedicated to teaching at primary level whereas in the second year, internship will be organized in upper primary schools. The focus in the first and second year will be on introducing the intern to the school, its environment, some understanding of children and the teaching learning process. Then the intern will function as a regular teacher but with the support of the teacher education institution in the form of guidance from and dialogue with faculty supervisors. During first year of internship, the intern will teach Punjabi, English, Mathematics and EVS. In the second year of internship at upper-primary level, the intern will opt for any two from Punjabi, English, Hindi, Mathematics, Science and Social Science.

Year I & Year II

Specific Objectives (First Phase For 15 days in each year)

1. To observe children and the teaching learning process in a systematic manner.
2. To learn to relate to and communicate with children.
3. To evaluate school textbooks and other resource material critically in the context of children's development and pedagogic approach used.
4. To develop a repertoire of resources which can be used by the intern later in her teaching - textbooks, children's literature, activities and games, excursions
5. To reflect critically on practice by visiting a learning centre

These objectives can be achieved by the following components of the programme, with the proposed weightage for each:

	Weightage in Marks
First Year & Second Year
• Developing student profiles	5+5+10
• Critical analysis of texts and material	4+4=8
• Critical analysis of material, cells and corners	4+4=8
• Developing resource material	15+15=30
• Interacting with and observing students	15+15=30
• Visiting a learning centre and reporting	7+7=14
Total 50+50=100

Specific Objectives (Second Phase For 45 days in each year)

1. To experience the school in its totality; activities in addition to classroom teaching include school activities and interaction with parents.
 2. To assume the role of a regular teacher with appropriate planning taking into account the diverse needs of students and the varying contexts that impact the teaching learning process.
 3. To be able to innovate within existing systemic limitations.
 4. To learn to conduct meaningful classroom activities by careful selection and organization of such activities.
 5. To critically reflect on her own school experiences and keep records of the same.
 6. To learn to assess different aspects of children s learning without a focus only on achievement.
- These objectives require the following components in the programme with the stated weightage:

	Weightage in Marks
• Planning	60+50=110
• Teaching	80+60=140
• Reflective Journal and Record Keeping	60+40=100
Total 200+150=350

The School Internship Programme could include visits by the interns to centres of innovative pedagogy and learning, wherever feasible; undertaking classroom-based research projects; developing and maintaining resources in the Internship schools. School Internship should be designed for interns to teach for 4 consecutive days per week for a minimum period of 12-20 weeks, including an initial phase of observing a regular classroom.

The practice of teaching during school internship would include not more than 4 Unit

Plans per subject. Planning of the Units would include a critical engagement with content from multiple sources including the school textbook, organization and presentation of subject-matter, formulating questions specifically to: (a) assess knowledge base and understanding of students; (b) further the process of knowledge construction and meaning-making in the classroom; and (c) assess students learning to improve pedagogic practice and further enhance learning.

The intern will necessarily have supervisory support from the faculty in the form of general and subject supervision, who will also assess the intern. The intern will be required to develop unit plans for which she must choose and design appropriate activities. A record of these plans must be maintained. The intern is also expected to maintain a daily reflective journal in which the intern will reflect on her practice and also attempt to draw linkages between pedagogy and the theory courses she has studied.
